

Value-based Care for the Care Team

January 2023

Agenda

Section I: Value-based Care

Section II: UCHealth Coordinated Care Colorado

Section III: Practice Transformation

Value-based Care—What Is It?

Value-based care is a payment structure and care delivery model that supports the four elements of the Quadruple Aim.

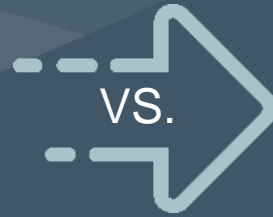

Value-based Care—Why Should I Care?

Your practice has voluntarily joined an Accountable Care Organization (ACO) called Coordinated Care Colorado (C3).

Traditional Care Models vs. Value-based Care

Value-based Care—How Do We Win?

- UCHealth Coordinated Care Colorado is paid based on all of the practices aggregated together.
- We rise and fall together as a network.
- All primary care physicians in the network contribute to the success or failure of the value-based contract performance.

ACO Impacts on Our Clinic

ACO Impacts on Me

Value-based care requires transformation.

It requires a different approach to care for our patients.

We are collectively responsible for the care of patients.

Success demands a team approach to patient care; one person cannot do it all.

Agenda

Section III: Practice Transformation

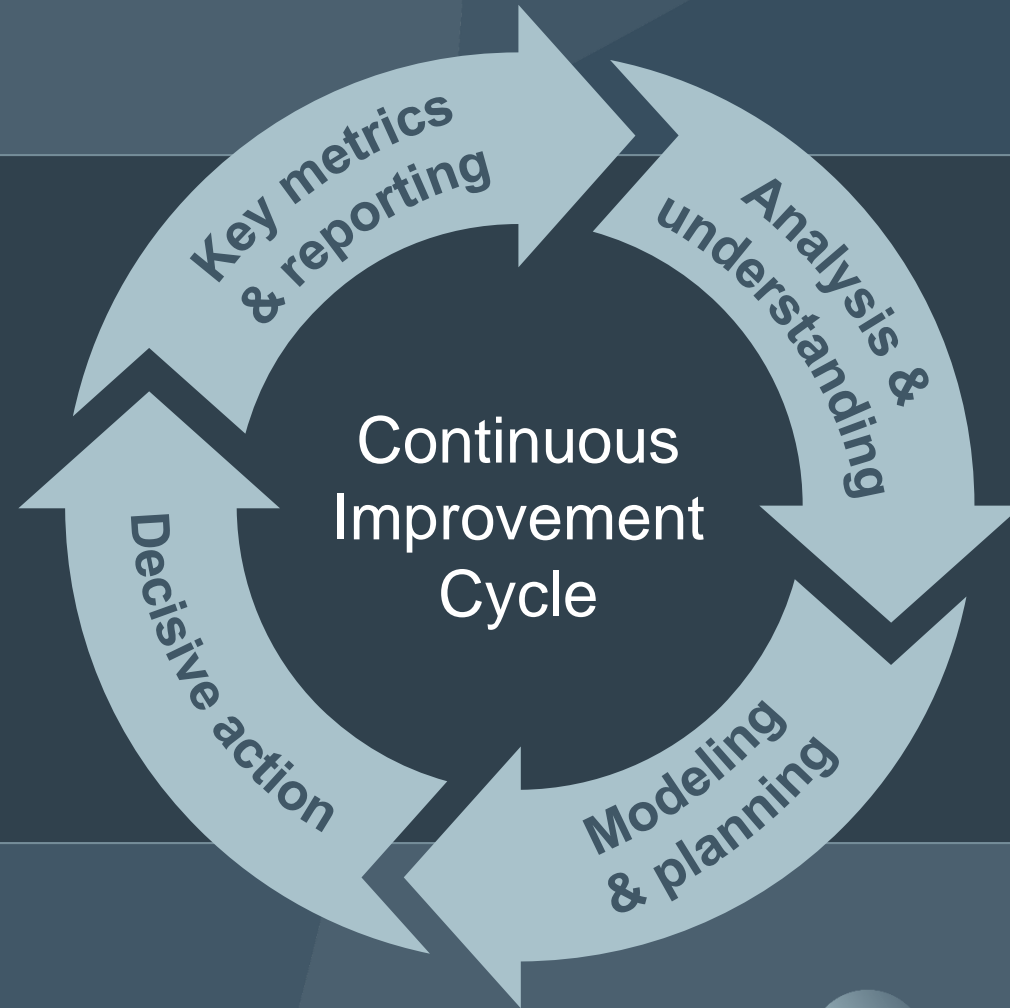

Practice Transformation— Patient Benefits

The goal of practice transformation is to change the way health care is delivered by improving quality of care, applying a patient-centered approach and creating high-functioning care teams.

Practice Transformation—Process Improvement

Practice transformation is ongoing commitment to improving processes and care delivery to succeed in value-based care.

Practice Transformation— Value-based Care Teams

When the healthcare team works together, they improve patient outcomes.

Practice Transformation— Tools

Value-based care requires us to think creatively about caring for populations by optimizing the care for the patients that are in front of us, as well as patients who are not being seen.

And...What Is New in 2024?

A new ACO:

- Joint venture between Intermountain Healthcare and UCHHealth.
- Expanded footprint—includes practices all over Colorado and extending into Wyoming.
- Larger population to care for...and to spread the financial risk.
- Two local health systems working together with independent practices to achieve the Quadruple Aim—new tools, new data.

What changes for me when that happens?

Initially, nothing...stay tuned!
